

Fig. 8. Time history of the horizontal position of five consecutive bubbles originating from a single active nucleation site on the polished surface at 2.06 W/cm^2 . Two of these bubbles are indicated by arrows in the inset photograph. Triangular symbols denote the initiation of bubble growth.

portion and free ascent where the start of the growth line with the point, while the inters considered a good est

The bubble shown under the action of b importance of acceler

$$\ddot{y} + \frac{3}{4} \frac{\rho_l C_D}{\rho_v D} \dot{y}^2 = \frac{(\rho_l - \rho_v)g}{\rho_v}$$

$$y(t_0) = y_c|_{t=t_0}$$

$$\dot{y}(t_0) = \dot{y}_c|_{t=t_0}$$ where y is the vertical departure, C_D the drag densities of liquid and tion due to gravity. C_D correlations of Michael respectively, were used freely accelerating bul (approximately 30–12 experimental noise (200 μm) about the st